wind, large areas of silence have been found in different directions and different dis-343 tauces from the signals, in some instances even when in close proximity to the sound "The mariner should not assume :-

"1.-That he is out of ordinary hearing distance, because he fails to hear the

" 2,-That because he hears a fog signal faintly, that he is at a great distance

"3. -That he is near to it, because he hears the sound plainly.

if 4. - That the distance from and the intensity of the sound on any one occasion, is a guide to him for any future cocasion. " 5, -That the fog signal has ceased sounding, because he does not hear it even

The United States Government published similar information to the above in 1885, in which the following additional hints also appeared.

"The Mariner should not expro- to hear a fog-signal well when the sound must reach him over land, as over a point or an island."

and, when there is a bluff behind the fog-signal, he should be prepared for irragular intervals in audition, such as might be produced could the sound riccohat from the trumpet, as a ball would from a cannon; that is, he might hear it at 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10 miles from the signal, and lose it at 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, and 11 miles distance, or at any other 1515 combination of distances, regular or irregular.

This peculiar interest to an important letter on the Macedonian question which we publish to-day-a question which threatons the integrity of Torkey quite as much as does that of Armenia. The drift of the letter is that the condition of Macedonia, one the great provinces of the old Tackish Empire in Europe still remaining to the Sultun, is well night as bad as the condition of Bulgaria before the war of liberation, and only less bad than that of Armenia itself. The letter, in fact, farnishes more evidence, if such were needed, that Turkey is rotten to the core, and is absolutely past the possibility of reform. It is forwarded to us by a correspondent at Sofia, and it is little more than his translation of a pamphlet just published by a well-known Macedonian in that city. The latter belongs to a fraternal organization which is trying to liberate Macedonia from Turkish oppression. The significance of his work for English readers is that it constitutes a statement of griorance from the point of view of one of the races in Macedonia most inimical to the Tucks. We do not necesmarily accept its conclusions, but we are glad to have an opportunity of presenting them to English readers. The great Macedonian province lies south of other provinces which have, wholly or in part, cast off the Turkish yoke. Among these she would soon be at Nish in Servian teris Balgaris, including Esstern Roumelia, which has its own government under Prince Ferdinand, though it is still subject to tribute. Bosnia and Herzegovina were handed over to the Austro-Hungarian garians in Macedonia are at least equal in Government by the Tresty of Berlin for humber to all the other races and nonpurposes of administration and military occupation, and they but nominally form part of the Ottoman Empire. Montenegro nut only be resisted by Turkey, but thwartis free. Service, after conturies of intermittent insurrection, had its independence established in 1878, by the Treaty of for support. One thing seems but too cer-Berlin ; Roumania won the same full and complete right at the same time. Greece has a claim which is almost as old as history. Bulgeria and Servis, each for its own ressons, equally regard Macedonia as a vital Interest. The Ohristian states of the Balkans, therefore, instead of being united in claiming redress of Obristian grievances in this region, pull different ways, and their want of agreement is the opportunity of the summarised is written, as we have said, from the Bulgarian point of view. The writer shows that Macedonia suffers intolerable grievances with no immediate hope of remedy. The Triple Alliance, he argues, isolates Bussia, England favours the Triple Alliance, and so the Porte oppresses the Magarian population, because they instinctive- ampton Buildings, Holborn, London. ly know what a great part is, or may be, reserved for it in the work of emationation. NATURE cannot be surprised in undress. tion is to keep the Macedonian Bulgarians enslayed both spiritually and morally. . The condition of Macedonia, in fact, is the condition of Armenia minus the more sensational massacres, which may come at any moment. The Christians are heavily taxed not only for the support of the Central Government at Constantinople, but for all local purposes. Yet all the money which they raise for their schools, for instance, is appropriated to the teaching of Islam. Not one penny of it is spent on the schools of their own communion. Even when they show their willingness to raise further sums for this purpose, they are subjected to the most veratious exactions and delays. The matter has to be laid before the Turkish authority, who takes bakth esh as an indispensable preliminary. is passed on by him to the provincial Gove nment, and thence to Constantinople, and it pays blackmail along the whole line of route. The Bulgarian teachers are under a most rigorous inquisition as to the books they read. They are forbidden to read any but the school books expurgated by the Turkish authorities, and if they take a newspaper it must be one which bears the stamp of Constantinople. Their lives are hardly to be called their own, and they preserve them only by the most obsequious reverseon to those set in authority over them, from the Turkish magistrate to the humble maptish or policeman. There is hardly one of them Who has not seen the inside of a prison, and come few have fallen beneath Turkish bullets. Their condition of servitude is, according to the writer of the pamphlet, the condition of every Christian in the province. The native Press, in so for as it exists, is muszled. The taxes are gathered with merotless severity, and there is nothing to show for them in local public works. They are in some places gathered in kind, but this does not preclude heavy payments in money for the same fiscal service. They are sometimes farmed out to brigands, who collect them by their own methods and on their own assessment. Whole districts have gone out of cultivation. Poverty brings the ourse of usury in its train; the peasantry are under the heel of the moneylenders. There is no need to repeat the miserable story in detail. It is the essential story of Turkish misrule everywhere. The same causes must produce the same effects, whether Armenia or Macedonia be the scene.

The pumphlet which our Correspondent has

All this in the pamphlet is made the basis of an appeal to Russia and for Russia. The author is admittedly a strong partisan of the 'liberating' Power. Russia, he says in effect, is the only one who has ever done anything for the Christian populations. The other Powers have rather helped to enslave them, or offered them the barren comfort of their good wishes. Russia sots. Let the Bulga ins cultivate the goodwill of the r northern protector, and show a firm front to Our author, however, seems to stop here, and, just when we might expect him to urge another war of liberation, he

Macedonia was under the Greek Patrierchate, and all the propaganda of independence was carried on by Greek priests in Greek schools. Greece, however, gradually lost her religious supremany, The Bulgarians, as they become more powerful, claimed their own Church, and obtained it in spite of the thunders of the Patriarchate. They cheerfully accepted the title of schismatics, on condition of winning their spiritual independence. The Porto consented to the appointment of Bulgarian bishops with power to travel among the Bulgarian population. The power of these bishops, and of the priests under their orders, has stendily increased. Bulgaria, therefore, has not only a large claim to the succession in part of Maccdonia, but the means of giving effect to it. The claim was FOR SWATOW, AMOY AND TAMSUL recognised politically some time ago by the Greek Minister, M. Trimupis, who made a secret agreement with the Bulgarian Government for the division of the spoil. But the agreement settled only a part of this complicated question. Bulgaria has only one of her rivals in Greece. There is another in Servia, which views with undisguised alarm the prospect of any increase in the strength of a state which has already inflicted a signal humiliation on the Servian nation. It is generally believed at Relgrade that, if Bulgaria were once in Northern Mordonia, ritory, and at no distant time perhaps at the capital livelf. These are the main elemouts of this intensely complex question. According to the author of the namphlet, the Bul-Christian faiths put together, including the Mohammedans, Whatever they do, will od by their fellow subjects and he the Principalities to which those subjects look tain-they are trying to do suspething, and
